Dissertation template

- Template is based on the directions of the Publishing Unit of the JYU Library:
 - Guidelines for writing in a research series published by the University of Jyväskylä \(pdf\).
- The template will offer you:
 - page layout, page numbers, opening pages
 - text styles!
 - headings with numbers, normal texts, citations
 - table of contents for updating
 - also table of contents for figures or tables

7

* Why styles?

- Style is a group of design definitions under one style name
 - headings (for instance: Heading 1, Heading 2, Heading 3 etc)
 - main heading and subtitles (1, 1.1, 1.1.1 etc.)
 - body types are modified variously
 - for instance: "basic body type", citations of the interviews, lists, tables etc.
- Additional value:
 - the layout of the document is continuous
 - it's easy to edit the styles afterwards:
 - for instance change the font size
 - heading styles are obligatory in the automatic table of contents

8

The basic idea of the template

- The layout / the styles are available in the "style palette"
- Delete unnecessary default texts
 - guideline -texts
 - or other elements, which you don't need
 - for instance: examples of text styles or captions for figures and tables
 - or: at the end of the document: the bibliography-style text (if you are using the bibliography from RefWorks)

Rules for using the template 1(3)

- * At the beginning: write your own text on the example text
 - Choose ("paint") the example text and write
- OR: First delete unnecessary example texts
 - Attention: leave the text of the table and figure -captions, so the tables of content will work
- Important: when dividing paragraphs, press enter only once!!
 - => automatically the space large enough between the paragraphs (it has been specified in the style)

Rules for using the template 2(3)

- it's enough, if you choose only the heading level you need when writing
 - for instance 1, 1.1., 1.1.1 etc.
- when you press enter after the heading or paragraph text
 => the correct normal text -style appears automatically
 - 1. paragraph: from the left side
 - next paragraphs: with indentation

11

Rules for using the template 3(3)

- when it's time to write the new heading level or text style (for instance citation), first choose the style from the style palette and then write
 - IMPORTANT: move the cursor first to the new line (by pressing enter)
- IMPORTANT: don't use the Paragraph - buttons from the Home tab, because it'll mess up the styles

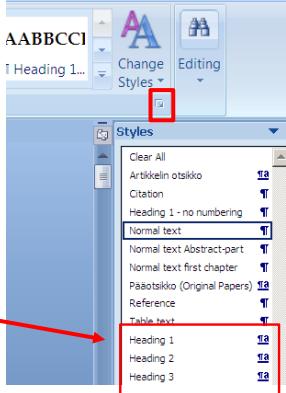

12

JYU - Information Management Center

Insert a new heading

1. * Home - tab: click the "key"-button ja then the style palette is opened
2. Choose the new heading style for the paragraph before writing: click the name of the style
 - 1 Heading 1 or 1.1 Heading 2 or 1.1.1 Heading 3 etc.
 - After you press enter, the style for next the paragraph appears automatically
